WACKY-0 METER

Insane! Potential for massive injury and/or really odd looks is huge!

That's crazy! You've really gotta ask: Why on earth...?

Strange, strange, strange! Where do people come up with this stuff?

Yeah... Kinda wacky, but granny would probably be up for it!

Caber Toss

★ What? Ladies wearing skirts (well, Scottish kilts) haul five to six metre long, 60 kg logs called cabers around a park and try to throw them further than anyone else. The size and length of the caber means enormous strength is required to balance it and even more is needed to throw it. Weedy caber tossers need not apply!

★ Where? Originating in Scotland hundreds of years ago, comps now take place all over the UK and Europe.

GAELIC FOOTBALL

★ What? A poor excuse for a ball, usually in the form of a leather-bound, inflated pig's bladder, was kicked from player to player in ancient England. Teams were often made up of warring townspeople and games resulted in serious injuries and even death for some participants. The whole idea of Gaelic football (minus the death and pig's bladder) is still around in the UK and matches are frequently played.

★ Where? The sport began in 13th century England, but is now more commonly played in Ireland and Scotland.

Bog Snorkelling

★ What: This is WACKED! Bog snorkelling involves competitors plunging into a freezing cold, dirty and smelly bog and swimming the length of it in the shortest time possible. They must swim two laps of a 30 m trench wearing snorkels, flippers and a wetsuit, but can't use any conventional swimming strokes. You won't catch Thorpie settling any freestyle records here!

★ Where: Waen Rhydd Peat bog, Llanwrtyd Wells, Wales. The annual event attracts hundreds of tourists each year, with some diving in to pursue bog glory! Ewww!

☐ Sign up ☐ Sin-bin

★ What: Kinda like horseracing, just with piggys! This 'sport' sees young pigs race around a small track, usually at country fairs for some wacky entertainment! No-one rides the pigs, but often soft toys are strapped to their backs to act as jockeys. Very, very bizarre!

★ Where: Who on earth would come up with such bizarre behaviour? Us Aussies, of course! The sport is thought to have originated in our own backyard in the early 1900s.

Extreme Ironing

★ What? Extreme ironing is an outdoor activity that combines the danger and thrill of an extreme sport with the boring household chore of ironing. It involves ironing on a mountainside, in a cave, or even while scuba diving. The mad sport is growing in size and popularity, with over 80 people competing at the 2002 World Championships in Munich, Germany.

★ What? Lawnmowers are customised to race against other mowers. This crazy sport sees racers stack it and mow the lawn at the same time!

This sport has resulted in some bad accidents, usually involving participants being trampled by cranky bulls! Run with the bulls if you're weird, wacky and mega brave!

★ What? The School Bus Demolition Derby is an event where old school buses drive into a blocked-off arena, wait for a countdown and then back into each other – trying to disable all the other competitors. The last bus still running at the end of the event is the winner. Only one driver can be on each bus at a time, so the Derby is more of a spectator sport!

Q: Why do you badly want a PlayStation®2 console for your school?

For the PlayStation® Portable Sampling Vehicle to take part in school visit activities, the date and notification must be suitable for all parties for the visit. Location of the school must be within a reasonable distance of the vehicle.

For the PlayStation® Portable Sampling Vehicle to visit schools out of these immediate areas, all access and facilitation details would need to be discussed prior to commitment from Sony Computer Entertainment.

TOYOTA i-SWING

Forget walking, the i-Swing is kinda like a pram for grown-ups. There's no room for a mate, but you can use artificial intelligence to make their i-Swing travel in sync with yours.

FERRARI CG50 CONCEPT

Next time a spesh occasion's coming up, give yourself a wacky pressie, like famous car designer Giorgetto Giugiaro did. To celebrate 50 years in the business he gave himself a one-off Ferrari. Hot!

WHEELY

If you think your grandad's clapped out bomb is weird, you ain't seen nothing yet!

NISSAN NOTE

INSPIRED BY ADIDAS

Turn your fave trainers into a car, like those crazy cats at Nissan. There's the ribbed sole look on the doors, Lycra on the grille and an Adidas three-stripe interior. All that's missing are laces for the sunroof and an authentic trainer stench.

ELICA

This beast is kind to the environment – as long as it doesn't hit anything! Elica is the world's fastest electric car, although electric cars aren't known for their speed. But with eight wheels, you'd hope it's swift!

DAIHATSU COSTA

Who needs doors? The Costa is a modern-day beach buggy with mesh-covered, hammock-like seats and wooden deck flooring to handle any water that splashes in.

P67B ETERNITY

If the i-Swing is a bit squeazy, upgrade to this kooky three-wheeler that seats two. Hold onto your lunch though, because this baby tilts like a motorbike as it steers.

WACKY!

NISSAN PIVO

OLD SKOOL

ASTRO BOY

CREATED BY OSAMU TEZUKA IN 1950S JAPAN, WE'D NEVER HAVE HEARD OF ASTRO BOY IF IT WASN'T FOR US ANIMATOR FRED LADD, WHO FELL IN LOVE WITH THE LITTLE TETSUWAN ATOM. WE TALKED ASTROWITH FRED.

KZ: HOW WERE YOU INTRODUCED TO ASTRO BOY?

FL: The first time I became aware of him was in late 1962. He really became important in my life in early 1963. A sales agent had become aware of a new TV series on the Fuji Network in Japan and looked at this little character called Tetsuwan Atom, which means 'iron-fisted atom'. He thought he might be able to sell it outside of Japan. No-one had thought to export from Japan but this guy did. So he came to New York City with four episodes under his arm.

The big TV networks wouldn't touch it, but the sales people who sell station by station were struck by the Pinocchio nature of this mechanical boy.

KZ: WHEN DID IT BECOME POPULAR?

FL: From show number one kids tuned in and unlike American cartoons, Astro Boy had a beginning, middle and an end. The American studios were producing six minute episodes and they were just little humorous things. But here was an edgy story with lots of things going on. It was something new and the ratings went through the roof. It was in all the papers the next day.

GRAB IT SOON!

Love Astro? Then keep an eye out for Astro Boy (1960) Deluxe DVD Collection 2 on sale February 15.

AND FUTURE OF THE ANIME WORLD!

MEGAMAN NT WARRIOR

Can you imagine a time when the Internet didn't exist? Well, MegaMan NT Warrior takes cyberspace to the next level. While some people nowadays have Internet access on their mobile phones, in the year 200X everyone carries around a PET (Personal Terminal) which is equipped with an artificial intelligence program called NetNavi. Of course with the good comes the bad! There's no need to hold up a bank when you can hack someone's account or create a virus to take down systems. The high tech world is sinister, but luckily the hero Lan Hikari has the ability to become MegaMan!

WHERE TO GET IT?

ZATCH BELL!

Week days get Cartoon Network catch Zatch and Kyo as they fight the ultimate mamodos battle against the other 99 mamodos that have descended upon Earth. Just a tad weird!

When you're a 14-year-old genius it's hard to make friends, but who would have thought that a person like your dad in the form of a little boy could make any difference?

Of course Zatch does make a difference! Being attacked every time you turn a corner quickly makes a difference to Kyo's life. It also makes us laugh!

CONFIRMED FOR 2006

Mattel are making a toy line based around the series!

CAN'T GET ENOUGH ZATCH?

Then why not search around and grab the manga? You can read about the background of the characters and see what the creator Makoto Raiku has to say about Zatch Bell!

Attacked by the Dark Axis, the land of Neotopia's only answer is the secret Super Dimensional Guard and their defenders, the Gundam Force.

All seven Gundam models in the series of the Gundam Force. Their special abilities are supported by their special abilities. The coolest part of the show are the funky mobile suits or mobile transformations from series to series.

The very first Gundam was created in 1979 and spawned many, many series spin-offs. It was a series about war.

For anyone who loves good anime, two of Studio Ghibli's films are being released on DVD this year. HOWL'S MOVING CASTLE is the story of Howl the wizard and the bewitched Sophie who travel the country in a weird moving castle.

There is also MY NEIGHBOUR TOTORO, a crazy film about two young girls and a mythical creature.

DO YOU HAVE ANY IDEA IF CARD CAPTORS WILL BE SHOWN ON TV AGAIN? IF NOT, CAN I GET MY HANDS ON ANY MOVIES?

Amy Jones

A: I really don't think so. A road journey is always a little more interesting in itself, but I suspect that your best riding is of the sort the writers of Confessions are currently unable to try on DfL, say your well-laid egg in to road race in your local moon lake. Or is DfL really just your own little world?

Dylan Baguley,
South Plympton, SA

A: The Handworld is an attack used by our main character, Tony, when, Scott and the others who joined the legendary Hunter team. The move involves a "burn" effect. All first 3 cards the burning pool of fire. The same can be used on the first three of the cards we can control. It's a great move to use. You can use it on a 1st round. I don't see it as good as the other moves!

Q. WHAT ARE THE NAMES OF THE LAST TWO DBZ MOVIES?

Logan Trueman,
Linville, Qld

A. The name of Movie 12 has just been announced by the Japanese anime site. It will be the 12th movie. The name of Movie 13 has not yet been announced. The original Japanese name for Movie 12 is "Dragon Ball Z: The World's Strongest" - Dragon Ball Z: The World's Strongest. It is a movie about the strongest of the strongest. I hope the final English title will be something like "Dragon Ball Z: The World's Strongest".

Q. WILL DRAGON BALL Z EVER BASE A SERIES IN AUSTRALIA?

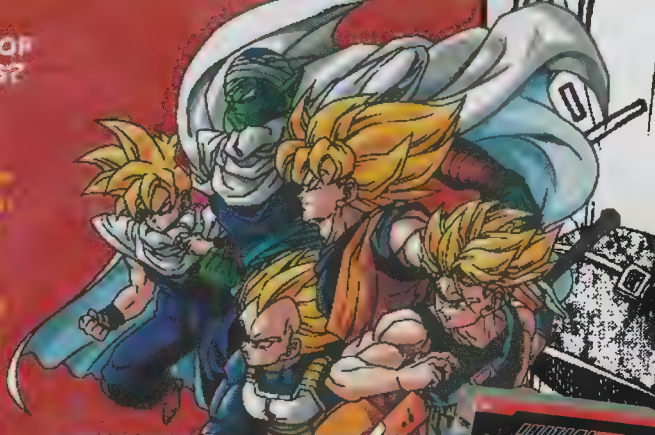

Jacob Murray,
Emu Plains, NSW

A. As cool as that would be, it's not likely. Dragon Ball Z is a very popular anime series, but it's not likely to be based in Australia. It's a very popular anime series, but it's not likely to be based in Australia. It's a very popular anime series, but it's not likely to be based in Australia.

Monster MADNESS!

The Narnia flick is packed with fantasy creatures we wanna suss out in real life, except they don't exist! Tell your little sis' that minotaurs run wild in Iran – then catch her out when she says, "I know!"

Minotaur: Monster with the head of a bull and the body of a man. Take into a china shop at your own risk!

Ogres: A hideous giant monster. Some have green skin and like living in swamps and marrying princesses!

Unicorns: A horse with a lion's tail and a big, spiral horn coming out of its noggin'. Your sis' will be gutted when she finds out unicorns aren't real 'cos girls love 'em.

Fauns: A man with the ears, horns, tail and back legs of a goat, like Mr Tumnus in Narnia. A good guy.

Centaur: A creature with the head, chest and arms of a man, and the body and legs of a horse. Give him a part in The Saddle Club!

MADE FOR MOVIES

Some totally fur out creatures have jumped from the minds of movie-makers. Here are our top five crazy critter movie stars.

1. E.T: The brainchild of Steven Spielberg, E.T. is the alien botanist who's stranded a longways way from home when the rest of his crew got off into the cosmos without him. He's long-fingered, big-eyed and bike basket-sized.

2. It: The sand fairy star of Five Children & It is ancient, ugly and temperamental, grants wishes and can't always turn out how the wisher wanted 'em to. It is a creature called a psammead and is a mean, green, wish-granting machine!

3. Chewbacca: The Star Wars flicks are stuffed full of wacky creatures and George Lucas is as wacky as they come, but it'd be rude to put him down as a creature, so we'll go with Chewie the wookiee. Han Solo's main man is tall as an NBA player, looks like he's covered in shag-pile carpet and is really on a triple shot of coffee.

4. Zorronas: The Lizard King (the awesome space adventure flick that's out in March 2006) are a scary blend of lizard, croc, iguana, Rex and slinky alien. They've got big teeth, ugly heads and a taste for human flesh. If you see one, run like you're on fire.

5. Gollum: Played by Andy Serkis who's the little animal and the big ape in King Kong, Gollum started as a hobbit in LOTR and ended up as a weaker, creepier bald guy with a taste for Cuddles, Waffles and

BIG BUSINESS!

Wacky can be good for business. Crazy creatures can bring in a lotta gawkers and gawkers bring in a lotta cash.

Monsters: Scotland's Loch Ness Monster might not be real (or she might - who knows?!), but this doesn't stop her raking in $40 million for Scottish tourism each year.

Snowflakes: Barcelona Zoo in Spain didn't get famous housing a couple of zebras and a pink flamingo. Nope - the big drawcard for BZ was Snowflake, an extremely rare albino (pure white) gorilla. Unfortunately for the zoo, Snowflake died in 2003 and attempts to breed another albino chimp failed. There go the profits.

CRAZY CREATURES

DOG:

Get Wired

BIRD: English Trumpeter pigeons are one of the few types of feathered friends that have four wings instead of two. The bonus wings are located around its feet. Weird!

CAT: Grab a Scottish Fold cat if you want a wacky pet that won't hear your four-winged bird flapping around. Cats normally have straight ears, but these little beauties have folded ones.

HORSE: Giddy-up on a miniature horse! Normal horses are a bit big to fit in your room so get a dog-sized one. Teach it to 'neigh' and catch a stick at the same time, then run off to the circus with it!

FISH: Bubble Eye goldfish have a weird water-filled sac under each eye. The sacs are so heavy that this type of fish spends most of its time resting its eyes on the bottom of the aquarium! Get one and call it 'Floater'!

WACKY WAYS

People do strange things like burp the alphabet, fart on their friends and collect stamps, but animals can be pretty wacky too.

Dolphins: sleep with one eye open. Wacky.

Alex Rider: would kill for this trick. When octopuses get scared they let off a smoke-screen of blackish or brownish ink so their enemy can't see them and they can bolt to safety.

Feeling peckish? Some ribbon worms eat themselves if they can't find any other food. How: does a X-Zone kebab sound, guys?!

A breed of US goats have a mutation called 'myatonia' which makes them faint, wake-up, faint and generally act rather bizarrely.

Lizards are tasty treats for eagles and snakes so some of them shed all or part of their tails to distract the predator and make a speedy get-away. Most lizards regrow their tail in a month and quicker lizards usually shed less tail than fatter/slower ones.

What's On The Menu?

Anteaters

In the Northern Territory, right here in Oz, some locals have replaced snacks like chips and chookie bars for the yummo taste of green ants! The ants have brown bodies and legs with a large, green abdomen that tastes kinda like lemon sherbet. If they came in a packet, the eating instructions would be, 'squash the ant's head

(so it doesn't bite you) then chow

CRIMINAL ARRESTED AFTER DAUGHTER DOBS

The mama moose and her under-aged calf had gotten drunk after eating fermented apples in a nearby paddock and started behaving very badly indeed! They were chased away from the old people's home by police and their dogs and we reckon the naughty pair would have woken up with moose-sized headaches!

GOAL!

COMING SOON

With all the excitement of Australia finally making it to the World Cup and with the A-League coming closer to its first finals series it's not surprising that the country is football mad!

Now coming up is a film that will have you out kicking a ball every chance you get. Goal! tells the story of Santiago Munez who is spotted by a one-time football talent scout in Los Angeles, US and makes it all the way to Newcastle, England to play in the Premier League.

MAJOR SCORE!

The ultimate reason to see this film is to spot all the top footballers. Of course all the Newcastle United players like Alan Shearer are in the film, but he also plays against Fulham and Liverpool. Santiago bumps into Beckham, Raul and Zinédine Zidane.

TWO - NIL

We don't want to blow the storyline too much, but talk about a lucky boy!

A sequel to Goal! is currently being filmed which continues the story. After obviously doing well at Newcastle United, Santiago is chased by Real Madrid and all the players like Beckham and Raul will make appearances.

ROAD SAFETY!

Always cross the road with an adult - they can help you look out for cars, plus they're bigger than you - so cars will see them!

Pedestrian crossings are the best 'cos the cars will stop for YOU! Cross at the crossing every time.

Crossing the road can be scary - but!
But there are a few things you can do to stay safe. Here are my tips to get you to the other side!

Remember to look both ways before you cross. Stop,
take your time
- you'll see cars
coming and
they'll see you!

So cross
the road with care and you'll get there in no time! Stay Safe!

(gosh, need we say more than that, huh?)

SPIDEY HOOKED!

After the release of the new Ultimate Spider-Man game, the Men of Legend has scored the rights to release 'Spider-Man' and 'Men of Legend' on the DS. If you're a comic nut then you'll be hyped about this killer partnership.

MONKEY MAD

Those who dig the monkeys in Super Monkey Ball will be happy to hear that AiAi and the gang are heading our way on Nintendo DS. With the wireless capabilities of the DS you'll be able to race, fight and play a round of golf against your mates.

MMORPG MILLION

A MMORPG is giving away a million euros ($1.6 million) to one of its gamers! In R.O.S.E. Online (aka Rush on Seven Episodes) European gamers can collect Bronze, Silver or Gold tickets by defeating foes. The tickets score game-related merchandise, computer or electronic gadgets and 50 major winners get flown to a 'mystery' location and are given a chance to win the dough!

TAKE IT TO THE MATS

If you can't quite devote enough hours to gettin' smacked-down or you're feeling a little raw over not scoring the TV for the night, then you'll be happy to hear WWE is going mobile. The game demands that you work on strength, endurance, technique and speed before taking on the ultimate superstars of the sport. We'll keep you up to date on when you can score the game for your phone.

POCKET BUDDY

If your goldfish is always kickin' the bucket on you then perhaps try a Tamagotchi. Better still, if you're a gamer you'll soon be able to buy Tamagotchi Connexion Corner Shop. Utilising the Nintendo DS touch screen functionality you'll take part in various mini-games and open a shop. Odd!

Tamagotchi is Japanese for 'cute loveable egg'!

Playing as a mosquito or using a stylus as a scalpel, these games are just wacky.

WEIRDEST OLD GAMES

Vib Ribbon (PSone) involves guiding a white stick figure rabbit across a black screen and through a number of line obstacles. If you miss obstacles you devolve from bunny to frog to worm. The sequel, Mojib Ribbon is similar, only you have to walk. Mojiburi over Japanese characters to hip-hop music. What the?!

But our prize for the weirdest, quirkiest and strangest game ever made goes to Revenge of the Mutant Camels. Released in 1992, you travel as a mutated camel that is attacked by umbrellas and drink machines! Animal games are never quite right. Maybe you've seen A Dog's Life where your aim is to smell other dog's bums! Or Mr Moskeeito where you play as a mosquito, buzzing around sucking peoples' blood.

WACKIEST NEW GAMES

If you're looking for a wacky game you can buy today try Psychonauts, where you play as the psychic Raz. Also, coming soon is Trauma

Centre: Under the Knife for the Nintendo DS. It involves using the stylus as a scalpel to perform operations. Like, EEEK!

KOOKY ACCESSORIES

If you had to have the bongos for Donkey Konga then you would have loved the fishing rod controller that came with Sega Bass Fishing or the maracas that came with Samba de Amigo.

Both were released on Dreamcast.

GAMES TO NEVER MAKE IT TO OZ

There are a LOT of games that never make it to Australia and most of these are Japanese. The most bizarre is an arcade game called Boong-Ga Boong-Ga. We're not sure what the aim is, but it involves holding a hand as a controller and poking someone in the butt with a finger. Truly odd!

LEVEL 1

The EXCLUSIVE first look at...

SONIC RIDERS™

SONIC RIDERS

Judging by the name and initial images Sonic Riders could easily look like Sonic's answer to Mario Kart or Crash Tag Team Racing, but first impressions aren't always right!

No, Sonic Riders is an altogether different game, which becomes immediately obvious when you grab a controller and take your character to the track.

First announced in September 2005 at the Tokyo Game Show, we've been given an exclusive first look at this new adventure for the blue ball of speed.

GAMEPLAY

While you can expect all the usual elements, like the precious Chaos Emeralds and evil Dr Eggman, the gameplay or, more specifically, game controls are not the same old 'accelerate with one button, brake with another and then steer'. No, the hoverboards ridden by our six supersonic friends run on the power of air, making the controls very different.

Once you've selected a character you then move on to board selection. Each has its strengths and weaknesses, which are divided up under curve, dash, power and limit. A star rating system shows where the boards' strengths lie.

'Aoi' is Japanese for 'blue'! Sonic is on his way to the Next

WHAT TO EXPECT

Very much like a ride on a futuristic skateboard and not so much like a racing game, the look is more like EyeToy: AntiGrav, but doesn't involve you starting up and wiggling around.

You'll need to pull tricks and show off stunts to leave the opposition in your wake, with characters having their own range of moves. While Sonic has his buddies, including Tails and Knuckles, his nemesis Dr Eggman has a gang of riders. Speed and Sonic have always worked well together and seem to work well for Sonic Riders.

RELEASE DATE

While there is no set date for the game at the moment we expect to see the game released in early 2006. We can't wait to review Sonic Riders when it's completed. Head to www.kzone.com.au/gamezone for updates on the game and when you can get it for yourself.

THE MOVIES

Available on: PC

Rating: M

Release date: Out now

Score:

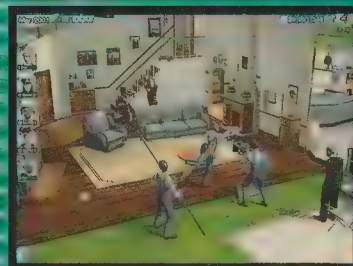

With a love of all things ghoulish and gross I set myself up as the newest 'Movie Mogul' to hit the 1920s, naming my studio Blood 'n' Gore. Focusing on horror movies, I recruited actors, built sets, filmed and edited movies for release and to earn me big bucks. Kinda like The Sims, but with something to show for it, The Movies is all about management. You need to keep your stars happy and in style and your studio lot clean and modern. If you do well, you'll produce blockbuster movies which you can screen for friends.

CHARACTERS

Choosing who you want to make a star or a director is very important. Lazy stars get fat and lose their star quality and directors who get bored easily are harder to manage. You also have to ensure you've got enough people cleaning the joint!

RUNNING A STUDIO

With over 7,000 scenes, 45 sets and countless costumes from every era you'll experience historical events, starting from when movies began in the 1920s to the present day of megastars.

WACKY MOVIE STUNTS

The actor who played Al Capone plunged 70ft from a building onto a mattress below for the film Public Enemy in 1931.

THE MOVIES

While I focused on horror, you can create any genre of film from sci-fi to comedy. First you write a script, then you cast it, film it and can even edit it and add sound effects yourself. The detail is unbelievable and you have full control.

DRAGON BALL Z SUPERSONIC Warriors 2

Available on: Nintendo DS

Rating: G

Release date: Out now

Score:

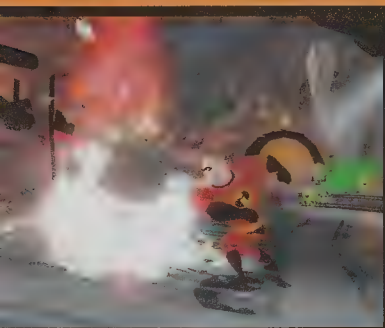

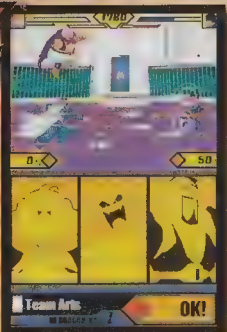

While originally scheduled for a February release, this DBZ game snuck its way forward. Meaning that now you can play it before heading back to school.

A sequel to the GBA game, the look and feel is very similar, with the only change during a battle being the percentage metres for the Ki Gauge and an arrow pointing out your opponent's location. Even the cover has the same golden glow! Moving up to the larger double screen of the DS does have its advantages. The game is crisper, the moves more dynamic and you can access wireless multiplayer, but sadly the touch screen isn't used except when scrolling through screens. There are a number of modes, including Story, Z Battle, Maximum and Free Battle, which allow you to use original moves and power-ups as well as access hidden content and expand the story. While it doesn't pack the punch that Tenkaichi does it's a good pocket alternative.

THE INCREDIBLES: RISE OF THE UNDERMINER

Available on: PS2, Xbox, GameCube, PC

Rating: PG

Release date: Out now

Score:

If you're desperate to know what happened to The Incredibles after the film ended then you'll have to grab the game for the next chapter. We all know that the Underminer (half-man, half-mole) has come back to crush us all! Of course, he has minions in the form of robots to run his evil doings and fight off opponents. Using a buddy system, which allows a second person to jump in and out of the game as they like, you'll play Mr Incredible and Frozone. You can switch between the two, use the AI to control the second character or tell the second to follow you close by, at a distance or to stay put. Making your way through over 20 levels you gather experience points that enable you to upgrade the heroes' powers and unlock new moves. Mr Incredible relies on muscle and thumps his way through levels, while Frozone freezes everything to ensure a quick passage to the next level. Plus, there are combos and super moves controlled through the use of the shoulder buttons.

WWE SMACKDOWN! VS. RAW 2006

Available on: PS2, PSP

Rating: M

Release date: Out now

Score:

Listening to what WWE fans want in a game has paid off for the developers. The 2006 version of SmackDown! vs. RAW provides us with all the superstars of the sport in a variety of modes and top graphics.

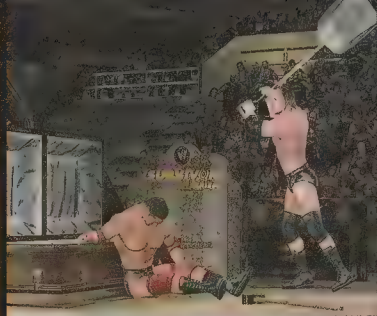

With the signature moves in place and updated features you'll feel like you're part of a match, with more realism thrown into the look, sound and crowd.

The new fighting system means that now, more than ever, you need to rely on tactics to win matches. Gone are the days when you could repeat money moves that kept your opponent floored. Now wrestlers rely heavily on the attributes of Stamina and Momentum. Repeating moves will see your Momentum meter drop as you lose the crowd's support. If you try to string together too many high level attacks you'll lose Stamina.

Fans will be able to name every move and perform them, but non-gamers can easily pick them up too. The 100 match types will challenge you and make you a legend.

Lastly, make sure you jump into the Buried Alive Casket match – it's killer!

NEED FOR SPEED: MOST WANTED

Available on: PS2, Xbox,

GameCube, PC, PSP,

Nintendo DS

Rating: G

Release date: Out now

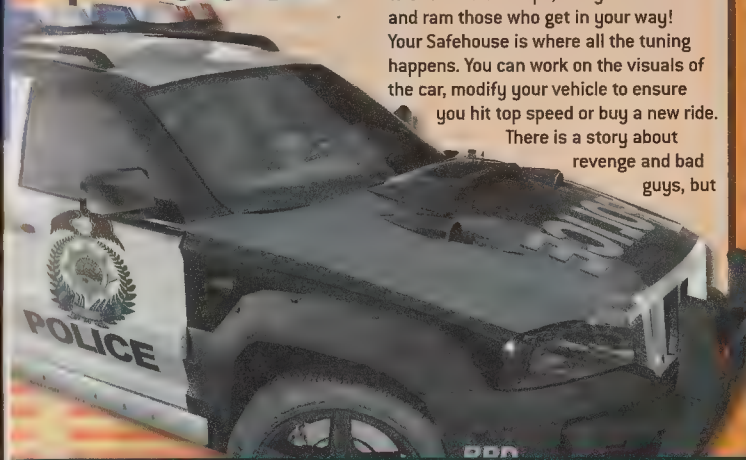

Score:

One of the most loved tuner racing games, Need for Speed is all about customising and high speed pursuits. Sliding into the driver's seat you'll want to steer yourself into the position of Most Wanted racer. In order to do this you need to out-drive the cops, use your shortcuts and ram those who get in your way! Your Safehouse is where all the tuning happens. You can work on the visuals of the car, modify your vehicle to ensure you hit top speed or buy a new ride.

There is a story about revenge and bad guys, but really this game is all about looking good and going fast! Even better, it's making its way to Xbox 360 next year.

GAMERS' HELP DESK

Dear Game Zone,

I recently saw on the Internet that there are games called Jak X and Jak vs Ratchet. Is this true? And when would they be coming to Australia?

From Darcy Morrow

Hey Darcy,

Jak X: Combat Racing is on sale throughout Australia and New Zealand. It's a fast-paced, aggressive racing game. But the game Jak vs Ratchet is currently just a dream of many fans out there and no announcement of this game has been made. Perhaps Sony will read this and decide to make the game!

FOUR TIMES AS FANTASTIC!

Fantastic 4 has hit DVD! We caught up with stars of the show Jessica Alba, Ioan Gruffudd and Julian McMahon and got the goss on why their movie's so damn hot!

KZ: DID YOU FEEL LIKE IDIOTS ACTING OUT YOUR SUPERPOWERS IN THE MOVIE?

IOAN: Well, it's a funny process as an actor because you're sort of giving up half of your character to these visual effects guys. I physically can't stretch and Jessica physically can't disappear so there was a lot of imagination involved. We were just as excited to see the finished product as the audience!

JESSICA:

KZ: DR DOOM IS EVIL, MAN! WHAT WAS IT LIKE TO PLAY BOTH VICTOR VON DOOM AND DR DOOM?

IOAN: I think the transformation from one to the next was the biggest challenge, but I liked playing both guys and the cue to play Victor again, never have has just so badly. With Dr Doom, once you put that suit on and you've got that mask, he's not to play. I love the skin where Dr Doom comes out of a garbage truck and you kind of see the under the skin. Nothing to play, just a very different world.

KZ: HOW DID IT FEEL TO BE PART OF SOMETHING SO BIG?

JESSICA:

KZ: DOES THE MOVIE LOOK JUST AS GOOD ON DVD AS IT DID ON THE BIG SCREEN?

IOAN: You can't really compare seeing something on the big screen to seeing something at home, but it's a luxury to be able to sit at home and watch the DVD in your own time.

JESSICA: Fantastic 4 was a huge movie, we've got really good to add all the special features and that kind of stuff. With the DVD, you're going to get a lot of behind the scene stuff, how they made it, and they've also included some of the gaming stuff.

Wacky Fact!

At the start of the movie a scar forms on the left side of Dr Doom's face. Later on, it switches to the right!

DIVA

Glue your eyes to the box with these rad new DVD releases!

CHARLIE AND THE CHOCOLATE FACTORY

The story of our favourite jelly-headed Willy Wonka is on DVD for the second time! We all love Willy Wonka & the Chocolate Factory (1971), but no movie collection would be complete without Tim Burton's Charlie and the Chocolate Factory (2005), starring Johnny Depp! There's still enough yummo chocolate and candy to make your guts churn, plus the DVD's got a bonus doco feature on becoming an Oompa-Loompa!

Back to Gaya

This flick is written by the same dudes who did A Bug's Life and Hercules, so it gets three stars straight off the bat! It's about a group of cartoon characters who escape their TV series, set in the action-packed land of Gaya, and dive into the real world. Now Boo, Zino and Snurks have to get serious if they ever want to make it back to Gaya!

THE ADVENTURES OF SHARKBOY AND LAVAGIRL IN 3-D

This 3-D adventure is packed with punch and based on the intergalactic journeys of seven-year-old Max. The flick was pretty cool at the movies 'cos 3-D is way cool on the big screen, but we're not too sure how it will go on the small screen. Keep it for a rainy day.

10 Wacky Ways to Waste your Holidays!

When you've seen every flick out and you're sick of hanging around the house being bored, it's time to waste your holidays the wacky way. Tick these off!

- ☐ 1 Become a pro weight-lifter. Build your pecs by lifting cans of baked beans. Try 10 reps on each arm and before you know it, you'll be able to carry your dad on your back and do 300 leg squats while watching TV. No sweat!
- ☐ 2 Visit an online zoo! If your folks won't take you to Africa, check out tons of wild animals online. Get started with the National Zoo at www.si.edu/natzoo and Topeka Zoo at www.topeka.org/zoo/
- ☐ 3 Invent a new type of cheese grater. This handy kitchen tool is often undervalued so why not experiment with materials like cardboard, wood and Play-Doh and see if you can come up with a bigger and better design?!
- ☐ 4 Create your dream celebrity photo album. Find a bunch of group pics of your fave celebs and stick 'em into an album. Next, cut your head out of this year's school photo, photocopy it and stick it on the shots so you look like you're one of the gang. Your friends will be so jealous.
- ☐ 5 Challenge your mate to an 'eat orange' day. Commit to only eating stuff that's orange in colour for an entire day. Think oranges, carrots, CCs, apricots and orange Fruit Tingles. The possibilities are endless.
- ☐ 6 Teach your goldfish to fetch. All you need is a miniature stick, a fish and a ton of patience.
- ☐ 7 Become a Sudoku nut. See how many Sudokus you can complete during the Zatch Bell! ad breaks. Before you know it, you'll be drawing mini Kiyo's in your game boxes.
- ☐ 8 Record your own farting orchestra. Feed your mates up on baked beans then tape 'em all farting. The different farts will create a colourful instrumental masterpiece you can play back to your folks!
- ☐ 9 Live dangerously by inviting the school bully to camp in your backyard with you. The initial invitation could be tricky (the bully may punch your lights out), but after a couple of camp fire singalongs and a damper, you'll be best buds.
- ☐ 10 Dig a hole to China. Start digging in a part of the backyard that's hidden from your olds so they don't go crook on you for digging up the vegie patch. Good luck!

PLAYGROUND PUNK'D

The 20 cent bet

COLOUR THE EDGES OF A 20 CENT PIECE WITH A PENCIL. BET YOUR VICTIM 20 CENTS THAT THEY CAN'T ROLL THE COIN DOWN THEIR FACE, NATURALLY THEY CAN, BUT THE PENCIL LEAVES MARKS ALL OVER THEIR FACE SO IT'S WORTH LOSING 20 CENTS OVER!

Bee still

IN A CONCERNED VOICE TELL YOUR VICTIM TO STAND REALLY STILL 'COS A BEE HAS LANDED ON THEIR BACK. MAKE 'EM WAIT WHILE YOU GO AND GRAB SOMETHING TO CATCH IT IN. SIMPLY WALK AWAY AND SEE HOW LONG TILL THEY CATCH ON!

Move it and lose it

COVER A GLASS OF WATER WITH A PIECE OF PAPER THEN FLIP IT AND WHACK IT ON YOUR VICTIM'S SCHOOL DESK. THEN SLIDE THE PAPER OUT FROM UNDER THE GLASS. YOUR VICTIM IS FACED WITH THE IMPOSSIBLE TASK OF MOVING THE GLASS WITHOUT DRENCHING THE DESK!

WHAT NOT TO SAY

TO THE SCHOOL BULLY SITTING NEXT TO YOU:
"GEEZ, SORRY. THE SMELL SHOULD PASS IN A FEW MINUTES."

TO YOUR PARENTS:
"IF SCHOOL'S SO GREAT, WHY DON'T YOU GO?"

TO YOUR TEACHER:
"LET'S SKIP THE BORING BITS SO WE CAN GET THIS OVER AND DONE WITH."

EXCUSES, EXCUSES

"I DIDN'T TURN UP YESTERDAY AS A MARK OF SYMPATHY FOR KIDS AROUND THE WORLD WHO CAN'T AFFORD TO GO TO SCHOOL."

"SORRY I'M LATE. I FELL INTO A PORTAL TO ANOTHER DIMENSION ON MY WAY TO SCHOOL AND IT TOOK ME AGES TO GET BACK."

A TV SCREEN SHOWS 24 PICTURES PER SECOND. BECAUSE FLIES ARE WACKY AND SEE 200 IMAGES A SECOND, THEY WOULD SEE TV AS SINGLE STILL PICTURES WITH DARKNESS IN BETWEEN 'EM. BORING!

Over 2,850,000 people tuned in to watch the 2005 AFL grand final on television. This is the third largest number ever for this event.

Wipe Out is TV's highest paid host, making $6.9 million in 2004. That's a lotta dough!

REALITY TV SHOW BIG BROTHER FIRST KICKED OFF IN THE NETHERLANDS IN 1999, NABbing 15 MILLION VIEWERS FOR THE FINAL.

The most expensive TV documentary series ever made was Walking With Dinosaurs. It cost over $61,112 per minute to produce. Yikes!

JIM CARREY

Ok, so you look pretty normal and average on the outside, but really you're a comic genius with an awesome, wacky flair! You love chilling with mates and making 'em laugh themselves silly. Like Jim, if your teacher gave you a few minutes each day to do some stand-up, you'd jump at the chance!
